106	Pre-hospital Burn Injury Management – Where We Are And How We Got Here Instructor: William Miller Burn trauma is one of the most devastating injuries a body can experience. They are notoriously painful and financially taxing to treat. And for those who are lucky enough to survive their injuries, burns leave lasting scars – both physical and emotional – for the patient and their loved ones to deal with for the rest of their lives. This presentation will use the Coconut Grove fire as a springboard to review how we assess and treat burn injuries today.
Cost: $25
Sun	8a-10a
107	Street Smarts: Never Wear Metal Pants In A Thunderstorm Instructor: William Miller As emergency service providers, we face many threats to our well being each and every time we "turn a wheel". It is easy to pick out potential safety issues when they are staring you in the face. Your challenge is to be ever vigilant to the development of problems that are going to affect your safety and the safety of your team. This program presents scene safety as a "mind set" and concept that you can modify and employ as necessary to the various situations you encounter.
Cost: $25
Sun	10a-12p

		ONE DAY CLASSES, continued.
108	Obstetrical Emergencies
Cost: $25	Instructor: William Miller
Sun	1p-3p	Most OB calls are "just a ride to the hospital," however things can go wrong before, during, and after delivery. And even when they go right, you've automatically got multiple patients to contend with. This presentation will review the normal changes that occur with pregnancy and discuss possible problems that may be encountered, as well as their management. A review of preparations for and "routine" delivery of the newborn in the EMS setting is also included.
