

NFIRS Updates and Information

09/02/2025

All Reports for January through August should be entered into NFIRS only and made Valid ASAP!

09/03/2025

Do not apply for a new NFIRS account just because you can't get logged in. Call the office to have your account reset, unless you are part of the problem below. Any new accounts will be rejected if it's for the reason just mentioned.

Several departments have started entering reports into NFIRS for September after being told not to by email and website notifications. Any report mistakenly entered into NFIRS for the month of September will be deleted. All users must stop entering September into NFIRS!! The only months that should be in NFIRS is January through August. This gives us a clean break in between systems. These departments will be set to pending until accounts can be moved to read only access.

There are 182 departments with invalid reports that need to be corrected. Please search in NFIRS and click the "Invalid" button to filter for these reports.

Once you have corrected them, please let me know so I can confirm them and update my list.

To export your NFIRS reports from the NFIRS system you must go to the Enterprise Data Warehouse and right click on each report and choose Schedule to run the reports shown above.

Make a file for each year and save each of the reports above to its corresponding year. You can only run 3 years at a time. If your department has a lot of reports, you may only be able to run a quarter at a time, or even a month.

NFIRS Updates and Information

Some reports, like Apparatus Personnel Module, may have no data at all, and that would be because none was entered. If you run a report and it throws an error, try using a smaller date range. You may export and save reports as far back as the year 1998. Evening, early morning hours, and weekends would be the best time to export your data.

Check back often for updates!
